Marion Colored People Hear Editor in Talk

A small delegation of members of the Marion Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were in Columbus Sunday attending a state mass meeting of the association at the Metropolitan temple. The meeting was called to hear an address by Dr. W. B. DuBois, editor of "The Crisis," magazine of the national association, with headquarters in New York City. Dr. DuBois is one of the founders of the association. His address dealt with the Negro's viewpoint on certain candidates in the coming election.

Monday night, Nov. 3, Attorney B. F. Hughes of Columbus will speak to the Marion branch at a meeting at the Park Street A. M. E. church at 8:30.

Land Owners Protest Street Paving Costs

Two Marion property owners protested assessments against property for street improvements at council meeting last night.

Council referred protests of John Probst and George Totaro to the street and alley committee for investigation and recommendation.

Probst claims the paving assessment of $1,299.66 and interest of $433.22 for his 70-foot lot on Brightwood drive is too high.

Totaro protests assessments of $658.92 on his lot at Commercial and Silver streets abuts.

LOCAL BAND ON FARM PROGRAM

Marion County Future Farmers' Musical Organization To Play at Convention.

Marion county's Future Farmers of America band, the only one of its kind in the country, will play a prominent part in the fifth annual convention of Future Farmers of America at Kansas City Nov. 15 to 21, an official program of the convention reveals.

The band, composed of 44 farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in Marion county schools is rated as one of the crack bands in this district, and has made a decided hit with Marionites in public appearances here at political gatherings.

The young musicians will participate in various parades and programs three days of the convention, according to information forwarded to C. B. Rayburn, county superintendent of schools.

The band will probably leave Marion Sunday, Nov. 16, shortly before noon to arrive in Kansas City Monday night.

Nov. 17 the band will appear at the Shrine temple for the program of National Future Farmers of America public speaking contest. Two appearances will be made the following day at the Shrine temple for a buffet supper given for all vocational students by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and in the arena at the American Royal Livestock show, one of the outstanding features of the convention program.

Nov. 19 the band will head the parade from Baltimore hotel to the downown district, bearing symbols of the organization. The final appearance will be made the night of Nov. 19 at the Baltimore hotel for the banquet given for teams, alternates, coaches, Future Farmer delegations, prize winners and guests.

While not taking part in the program of the convention, the band boys will be entertained by tours of Kansas City.

Breaking of Hydrant Is Made Misdemeanor

Anyone who breaks or disconnects a fire hydrant in Marion and fails to report the fact to city officials or the Marion Water Co. is made guilty of a misdemeanor by the terms of a new ordinance passed by city council last night.

Claiming a damaged or broken fire hydrant not immediately repaired is a menace to safety, council passed legislation subjecting any person breaking or damaging a hydrant and failing to report the fact to a fine of between $10 and $200 and a maximum of 30 days imprisonment.

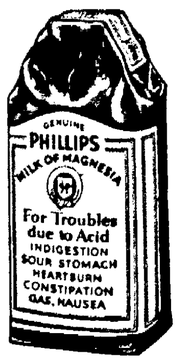
WHEN PAIN COMES···

Two hours after eating

WHAT many call "indigestion" is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard anti-acid with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this more pleasant way. A small bottle is sufficient to show its merit.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for more than 50 years in correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c a bottle; any drugstore. Complete directions for its many uses, are enclosed with every bottle.



The Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid—never a tablet. Look for the Phillips' name on the bottle.

NOTICE TO VOTERS of Marion County

Perhaps you remember while unloading soy bean hay, the trip rope broke and I fell from the load and broke my leg on Aug. 15.

You realize what a handicap that has been to me in this campaign, for I am still unable to walk, even with aid of crutches.

In making this appeal for your influence and vote, I want to assure you, if elected my best efforts will be given to stop unnecessary expense in the county.

Ohio Owes It To Herself To Return

U. S. Senator

Roscoe C. McCulloch

His record in office shows that he distinctly deserves to be returned to the Senate. He is a statesman of the McKinley school — fearless, clean and capable.

He vigorously opposes the lowering of our standards of living as advocated by the internationalists.

He is opposed to those who have voted for tariff for revenue only and for the letting down of the bars of immigration to the hordes of cheap labor from abroad.

He fearlessly fights to protect our business, our wages, our agriculture and our homes.

A vote for McCulloch is a vote for American standards.

ORDINANCE NO. 3140
AMENDING ORDINANCE NO. 3095, PASSED MAY 26, 1930, AND ENTITLED "APPROVING AND ADOPTING THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS HERETOFORE MADE FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF COMMERCIAL STREET FROM SILVER STREET TO THE NORTH TERMINUS OF SAID STREET IN THE CITY OF MARION, OHIO, BY PAVING, AND LEVYING SUCH SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS UPON ABUTTING PROPERTY TO PAY THE COSTS AND EXPENSES OF SAID IMPROVEMENT WHICH ARE CHARGEABLE BY LAW AGAINST THE PREMISES."

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Marion and State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the special assessments heretofore made, and published, as provided by law for the improvement of Brightwood Drive, from Mt. Vernon Avenue to Mandana Avenue, in the City of Marion, Ohio, by grading, setting curbs, and crossings, constructing the necessary drains and retaining walls, gutters and catch basins, paving the roadway with any substantial paving material, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted, no objections having been made and filed thereto.

Section 2. That said special assessments above mentioned, be and the same are hereby levied against the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement to pay the property owners' portion of the costs and expenses of constructing said improvement, in the sum of $6.15 per lineal foot.

Section 3. That said assessments shall be payable in cash within thirty days from the first publication of this Ordinance, in ... installment, at the office of the Treasurer of said City of Marion, Ohio, or at the option of the owner in ten annual installments, with interest at not to exceed six per cent per annum and penalty on delinquent payments, at the same have been certified to the County Auditor of Marion County, Ohio, as and in the manner prescribed by law.

Section 4. All money collected on the above assessments shall be applied on the payment of the notes and bonds issued to cover the property owners' portion of the costs and expenses of the construction of said improvement and for no other purpose.

Section 5. This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

ARTICLE XII, SECTION 9.

PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTION 9 OF ARTICLE XII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO IN REGARD TO THE DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME AND INHERITANCE TAX.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection, in the manner provided by law, at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1931, a proposal to amend section 9 of article XII of the constitution of the state so that it shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

Sec. 9. Not less than fifty per cent of the income and inheritance taxes that may be collected by the state shall be returned to the county, school district, city, village or township in which said income or inheritance tax originates, or to any one of the same, as may be provided by law.

Adopted April 6, 1929.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
STATE OF OHIO.
Office of the Secretary of State.

I, CLARENCE J. BROWN, Secretary of State, of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is copied from and is fully compared by me with the original Resolution adopted by the 88th General Assembly of the State of Ohio on ... 1929, and now on file in my office as my official custody as Secretary of State, and found to be true and correct copy. Said Resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State on April 15th, 1929, for purposes to amend section 9 of article XII of the constitution of the state relating to the distribution of income and inheritance taxes.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my official seal at Columbus, Ohio, this ... day of September, A. D. 1930.

CLARENCE J. BROWN,
Secretary of State.

STOCK MARKET TONE IMPROVES

Buying Demand Higher; Narrow Gains Scored Over Wide Range.

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Stocks had a buoyant and confident day as buying demand for issues flowed in from investment centers and the list of stocks offered showed a contraction. While price gains were somewhat narrow, ranging two or three points, the movement spread with few exceptions over a wide range of issues.

United States Steel's advance to a new high level of its recovery move was encouraging to those who also predicted a favorable third-quarterly report to be issued after the close of business.

A chill was thrown on the whole market by estimates which said Bethlehem with less than half its common stock dividend requirements earned in this period. It was known that Bethlehem's earnings fell off sharply.

Significant advances were scored by the amusement stocks which reached the highest price levels since the turn of the month. Radio at 24 showed a rally of 7 points from its recent low and Loew's at 61, was up nearly 10 points from last week's bottom.

RUST REPORTS CAUSE UPTURN

Grains Score Gains as Wheat Quotations Jump in Liverpool.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct 28- Reports of crop damage by rust in Argentine wheat led to early higher prices here today for all grain. An unexpected upturn in Liverpool wheat quotations accompanied the damage reports, and helped give impetus to wheat buying in Chicago. Opening unchanged to one cent higher, Chicago wheat future deliveries showed subsequent upturns all around. Corn started at ¼@⅝c advance, and afterward held near to the initial range.

Contributing to an upward trend that wheat values displayed much of the time were advices that new crop offerings of Argentine wheat abroad had been withdrawn, furthermore, word was at hand that arrivals of wheat in the chief European continental ports this week amounted to but 8,720,000 bushels against 10,312 000 bushels the week previous. It was also announced that Canadian exporters had disposed of 500,000 bushels of wheat overnight, with indications that purchases of additional quantities were under way.

Profit-taking sales in wheat enlarged when prices bulged, and there were consequent reactions. Some of the selling was for traders who expressed belief that notwithstanding wheat might be low it still was doubtful whether it was cheap. On the other hand friends of higher prices contended that an increase of more than 6,000 000 bushels of late in the open interest in wheat here showed that faith was not lacking among investors who were in a position to buy wheat and hold it. Corn and oats largely followed wheat. Despite hog market weakness, provisions were responsive to upturns of cereals.

CLEARINGS HIGHER

A decided upward trend in bank clearings this week is shown by reports from the National City Bank & Trust Co. clearing house reports. Yesterday clearings of $85,392.73 were reported, a figure much higher than clearings of $49 809 73 reported Monday a week ago.

Republicans Plan Rally at Prospect

THESE CANDIDATES ASK YOUR VOTE ON NOV. 4

ELMER E. PARISH

EARL F. THOMAS

Editor's Note—This is one of a series of stories being published by The Star to acquaint Marion county voters with local and district candidates who will be voted on at the polls Nov. 4.

MEN who live on the same street and in adjacent precincts are campaigning for the office of county auditor this fall.

Earl F. Thomas incumbent and Republican candidate, lives at 488 East Church street, while Elmer E. Parish, Democrat resides at 726 East Church street.

Both men were born in the western part of the county, Thomas in LaRue and Parish near LaRue. They were born the same year, Thomas on March 22 1880, and Parish on Sept. 24 1880.

Thomas is at present serving his first term and prior to that was deputy auditor. He fought in the county offices for 13 years and later was a clerk at the Marion post office.

Parish never before has been a political candidate. While he lives in Marion he operates a farm near Meeker. Up until two years ago he owned and operated the Parish Dairy on North Prospect street for 18 years.

The auditor's term is four years and begins on the first Monday in March.

Ask Mill Levy To Protect $8,000,000 In Roads, Bridges

County Has Huge Sum Invested in Highways

Commissioners Ask Voters To Continue Special Tax To Prevent Damage to System; Former Two-Mill Levy Is Cut in Half as Aid to Taxpayers.

Construction of new roads and bridges as well as repair of township road bridges in Marion county are dependent on the one mill road levy which will be voted upon Nov 4 at the regular election County Surveyor Cecil R Leavens pointed out today in discussing the levy

"We have been operating on a two-mill road levy for a period of 10 years, during which Marion county roads have been transferred from impassable quagmires in many places to a system on a par with any county of equal wealth in the state the surveyor said

Cut Levy in Half

"At the time the levy first was asked, there was no other money available for road work but within recent years the state has passed a gasoline tax which with the auto license tag receipts, has provided the county with sufficient revenue to make necessary only a one-mill levy instead of the two-mill levy which has been operative for the last 10 years

"The amount of money received from the gasoline and license fees is about $65 000 to $70 000 annually and can be used for repair purposes only It is not sufficient for that purpose If the levy doesn't pass, we will have no money available for the construction of roads and bridges of county highways and none for new construction or repair of bridges of the township roads where the law compels the county to maintain

The county has paid all the expenses for both new construction and maintenance of roads and bridge from the previous levy for several years without the issuance of bonds and a consequence will be practically free of bonded indebtedness in 1931 the surveyor points out

"With the passage of this levy county commissioners will be able to continue to pay as they go and will not be compelled to use the expensive bond method to provide funds when the present tax is the levied

Has Big Investment

"Marion county has $8 000 000 invested in the bridges and roads of its 460 mile highway system and a vote for the levy therefore would be a vote to protect this investment, Leavens declared

The 460 mile system consists of 150 miles of hard-surfaced roads as well as 310 miles of traffic bound roads, and in addition there are 2,032 brdges and culverts which must also be maintained

Repair and resurfacing of the hard-surfaced roads takes up $25,000 of the $70 000 provided by the gasoline and license fees while $16,000 is necessary to maintain culverts, paint bridges, repair plank floors and replace rusted beams Scraping and dragging of the 310 miles of traffic-bound roads takes up $1 500, and $3 000 is necessary to repair washouts plow snow, place barricades and lights and patrol flooded roads

Other items paid from the gasoline and license funds include $2,000 for the repair and replacement of maintenance equipment and $5 500 for taxes, liability insurance and employment of a road deputy, making a total of $47,000 of the $70 000 The $23,000 left cannot cover the maintenance of the traffic-bound roads, the new construction of bridges, the new construction and widening of roads and the assistance given townships and municipalities in any improvements that come within the county's jurisdiction, the surveyor points out

Construction of new bridges, which has been at the rate of approximately 15 every year, is necessary due to the fact that practically all of the bridges were built for horse traffic and consequently cannot meet the requirements of present-day heavy loads and high speed, according to Leavens.

"The one-mill levy would provide us with approximately $90,000 which, with the $23,000 left from the gasoline and license fees, will be barely sufficient to provide what is required," Leavens declares.

A three-mill levy is asked by Caledonia, but this would cover only a three year period while Montgomery rural schools seek a two-mill levy for one year only. These issues will be voted on only in the districts which they affect.

In addition to the special issues voters will be given a non-partisan judicial ballot for the selection of two supreme court judges and one for the appellate bench. Candidates for supreme court are James E. Robinson, W. P. Stephenson, Charles H. Hubbell and Raymond E. Kinkade, while the appellate candidates are H. E. Garing and William Kinger. Both of the latter are from Lima.

Chester Pendleton is running unopposed for the unexpired term of two of the appellate courts, a period of only two months.

GRANGERS TO AID IN NOV. 11 PARADE

More Than 500 Members of Farm Groups in County To Participate.

Marion county granges will figure prominently in Armistice day activities here, if plans worked out by all grange masters in the county are carried out.

Five hundred grange members are expected to participate in a parade scheduled to be one of the features of the local Armistice day observance. The parade will include officers of each of the 11 granges.

The Grange division in the parade will be headed by the Pomona grange officers in uniform.

John Ruth, master of United Grange, Forest Loudenslager master of Grand Prairie Grange and W. T. Owens master of Progressive Grange, are a committee in charge of Armistice day arrangements for the granges.

The appearance of the granges in the local observance of a holiday will precede the state convention of that organization here Dec. 8 to 12. The convention is expected to bring 4,000 persons to Marion.

MORROW PUT IN SPOTLIGHT

U. S. Senate Race Gives State of New Jersey Plenty of Excitement.

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of stories on the political situation in the various states as reported by Associated Press observers.

• • •

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 28. The contest for United States senator in New Jersey has robbed this year's campaign of the usual apathy of off year.

Dwight W. Morrow became a resident just a few months ago and the G. O. P. took notice. He was a first choice in the game of politics which has pitted against A. A. Carpenter Simpson and Miss Mary T. Norton, Democrats at large for the nominees of the Socialist, Communist and Socialist Labor parties.

Simpson is a candidate for the full senatorial term of six years. Miss Norton for the unexpired term of Walter E. Edge, and Morrow for both.

Center on Two Men

For the most part, New Jersey has settled its eyes and ears toward two men, and both of them debonair gentlemen, one of them is Dwight Whitney Morrow, the other Herbert Hoover, the other Morrow's personal hero.

Morrow answers no charges. He does not mention his adversaries. He does not criticize the issues of the day. He makes no specific promises for himself, he asks only that the people exercise their franchise.

Simpson is a man of slogans and platitudes. Morrow is "Dwight Whitney Morrow" to Simpson. A voter of the Republican, he warns, is signification of approval of Morrow, Morgan and misery. Morrow was formerly a partner of J. P. Morgan and Co.

Morrow warmly commending President Hoover, holds that the courage of the people will constitute the major contribution to the return of prosperity. He pleads against exaggeration of business depression and unemployment.

Mentioned for Presidency

Since his declaration for repeal of the eighteenth amendment Morrow has been advanced as a potential candidate for the Presidency. He refuses to take such talk seriously. He has said he looks forward with confidence and with pleasure to working for the renomination and re-election of President Hoover in 1932.

A full delegation of 12 will be elected to the house of representatives, a component of 60 sent to the state assembly and eight senators chosen.

Of the 12 representatives in the house, only two are Democrats, four of the district's now represented by Republicans are conceded to be in a fight, the third, sixth, eighth and ninth. Three former representatives are seeking to return.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Oct. 29

ALTHOUGH there is a basis for prognosticating a very lively and eventful day with much substantial progress and achievement through dogged enterprise and faithful application yet there is a sign of restlessness agitation and probably much stirring about. Also there is a sign of some discord or friction in employment or in a clash with those in authority also a menace through violence or accident.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a lively year with some change or removal; possible anxiety about employment but advantageous contacts with large corporations or secret bodies and through diplomacy or stratagem. The purely personal affairs should also flourish and be happy. A child born on this day should be versatile, energetic, forcible and probably impetuous although having as well gracious and ingratiating manners and affectionate ways.

Willis Indicted for First Degree Murder by Grand Jur

JOHNSON ALSO HELD BY COURT

Kenton Pair Arrested After Fatal Shooting To Be Arraigned Wednesday.

Special To The Star

KENTON, Oct. 28—Indictment charging first degree murder on two counts against James Willis, 24, of Kenton, in the fatal shooting of George L. Ansley, 49, prominent Kenton resident at his late home on East Ohio street early Sunday morning, was returned by a special session of the Hardin county grand jury late Monday.

John Johnson, 34, companion of Willis, also held in connection with the shooting, was indicted on a charge of breaking into an inhabited dwelling house in the nighttime.

They are to be arraigned before Judge Hamilton E. Hoge in common pleas court Wednesday morning.

The shooting occurred when Ansley struggled with Willis for possession of the latter's gun when Willis called at the Ansley home at 2 a. m. to see Lucille Ansley, 24, bank clerk.

Johnson who declares he was forced at the point of a gun to accompany Willis to the Ansley home, told officials that Willis was in a jealous frenzy because the daughter had refused his attention. He said Willis forced him to enter the Ansley home and to call out for the daughter.

Arresting officials said both men had been drinking. Willis said they had visited a couple of places earlier in the evening and had a couple of drinks around while Johnson denies having drunk anything, in statements to officials.

Funeral for the slain man was held this afternoon.

CITY FILES ANSWER TO PHONE APPEAL

Brief Opposes Review of Refund Order by Ohio Supreme Court.

An answer brief to oppose an effort of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. to have the telephone rate case decision of the utilities commission reviewed by the Ohio Supreme court is being prepared by City Solicitor Carter Patton and Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr., special counsel for the city.

The utilities commission recently ordered the company to make refunder of nearly $162,000 and to lower rates being collected here under bond.

The company used its right of appeal to make application to the supreme court to have the case reviewed.

The supreme court is expected to hold hearing on motions of the company and city, and at that time will decide whether the telephone case shall be reviewed.

WILL CONTINUE BUCYRUS SHOP

Railroad Officials Seek To Iron Out Terms of Deed Before Moving.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 28—Operations at the N. Y. C. shops here, ordered removed to Collingwood Nov. 1, will be resumed at once and will be retained until the difficulties brought by the terms of a deed of the real estate on which the shops are now located are settled, it was announced by railroad officials today following a conference Monday with City Solicitor Charles F. Schaber and Mayor Arthur Schuler.

The proposed transfer would involve approximately 200 local employes.

The deed provides that the property revert to the city in case the shops are moved.

LABOR UNION FAVORS 3-MILL SCHOOL LEVY

Central Body Indorses Tax Issue for Public Instruction Here.

Marion Central Labor union last night indorsed the three-mill levy for school purposes following a thorough discussion of the issue.

The organization last week discussed the levy but failed to indorse it at that time.

The proposed one-mill levy for the city's current expenses also was indorsed, while the organization made favorable comment on the proposed one-mill levy for county roads, although no official indorsement was made.

Labor union officials said today the organization's action was taken when it was pointed out that if all levies sought were voted, the tax rate would be no higher than at present.

CITY OFFICE SHAKEUP MAY FOLLOW REPORT

Examiner Says Mt. Gilead Men Cannot Hold Two Public Positions at Same Time.

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 28—A number of city officials are violating state laws by holding more than one public office, E. A. Zook, examiner from the state auditor's office, reported here Monday.

Lloyd Dye, recently appointed to the council to fill a vacancy cannot serve as a member of the council and retain his post as secretary of the Morrow county fair board, the examiner said. H. C. Johnston is holding both a council seat and the post of fire chief. The third city official in the same dilemna is W. R. Corwin who was elected marshal of the last general election. He is also employed as night watchman.

Each of these officials will be requested to resign one of the offices or official action may be taken, it is said.

Mr. Dye refused to make any statement Monday when asked whether he would resign from either the council post or as secretary to the fair board. Mr Johnston stated that he would undoubtedly resign as either fire chief or as a member of the council but that he did not know yet which office he would retain.

Corwin made a similar statement indicating that he would take no action of any kind until the examiner's report is returned from the state auditor's office.

Mr. Dye's case probably will be submitted to Attorney General Gilbert Bettman for a ruling.

The examiner's report is said to contain an order for the return to the state and county funds of approximately $300 in fines collected during the last three years by the mayor for violation of state laws, not covered by city ordinances.

FIRE DESTROYS UPPER THEATER

Loss in Early Morning Fire Estimated at $10,000; Apartments Damaged.

Special To The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 28—Fire, thought to have originated from an overheated furnace, caused a loss estimated at $10,000 to the McConnell block here this morning.

The fire was discovered by Pearl Reynolds, who with his sister occupy a flat on the second floor of the building. The alarm was turned in at 4:30 this morning. The building, a three story brick structure, is located on the corner of Sandusky avenue and Johnson street.

The Ohio theater which occupies the first floor was destroyed. The furnace was located in the basement beneath the theater. The apartment occupied by W. L. Bristoll, manager of the theater, was damaged by the smoke and water. This apartment is located on the first floor at the rear of the building. Mrs. Matilda Little, who resides in an apartment on the second floor, was visiting out of the city at the time of the fire. Smoke and water did considerable damage to her apartment. The third floor of the building was unoccupied.

The Home Furniture store which occupies the adjoining building was filled with smoke and it is undetermined as yet if any of the upholstered furniture was damaged by the smoke.

In another meeting, Croxton will meet members of Governor Myers Y. Cooper's special committee on permanent stabilization of employment, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Company Makes Effort To Keep Water Soft

Officials of the Marion Water Co. will make every effort to keep the hardness of city below 12 grains a gallon the limit of hardness specified in the company's franchise with the city. That is the report forwarded to council last night in reply to that body's demand for softer water.

Council ordered the city solicitor to take the matter up with water company officials when reports of Floyd G. Browne, city chemist, reported the hardness of the water had exceeded the 12 grain mark on several occasions.

Reports of the hardness tests in the last few days have revealed that the city water has exceeded 12 grains of hardness on one occasion since council ordered the condition of the water remedied. On Oct. 18 the hardness of the water was 12.6 grains.

TREISCH RITES

Funeral Services for Marion Man To Be Held Wednesday.

Funeral services for J. L. Treisch, of 535 Toledo avenue, who died in Mansfield yesterday, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Wesley M. E. church, with Rev. W. Martell George, pastor, officiating. Mr. Treisch was found unconscious in his partly-overturned machine early yesterday morning. An examination showed that he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

He was brought to the M. H. Gunder funeral home on West Center street and will be removed to the Toledo avenue home late this afternoon. The body may be viewed at the home tonight and until funeral time. Interment will be made in Marion cemetery.

CITY PARKING LOT MAY BE REGULATED

Salamanca, N. Y., Man Makes Offer at Council Meet; May Charge Fee.

An offer to service the city parking lot at Church and Prospect streets and pay the city a rental fee for the lot was referred to Service Director D. J. Harlow by city council last night.

The offer was made by K. H. Fraser of Salamanca, N. Y. He proposes to supervise the parking of automobiles on the city lot and prevent the possibility of accidents or improper parking on the lot. For this service, he proposes to charge motorists using the lot a fee of 15 or 20 cents.

Although council did not take action other than to refer the matter to the service director, members appeared to receive the proposition favorably. Numerous minor accidents on the parking lot have occurred in the past, and many motorists and organizations have complained to council of automobiles being blocked in the lot by other motorists who parked improperly.

conditions as they are and they propose no remedy."

Cooper Defends Program

At Youngstown, Governor Cooper in reviewing his administration's dealings with unemployment and the drouth, asserted "$225,000,000 will be spent again on highway construction next year if necessary to provide jobs." He continued that "no one will go hungry if there is anything the state can do to help." He said the Democrats have no program and "only a cry of bewilderment to offer."

George White of Marietta, Democratic candidate for governor, promised a conservation program in accord with sportsmen's aims in an address at Portsmouth. He charged that the department of conservation is "top-heavy with jobholders."

Ex-Governor Cox, in a radio talk at Cincinnati, again charged the Cooper administration with laxity resulting in the Easter Monday prison fire disaster.

The Cooper administration was attacked as extravagant by Donahey in a speech at Paulding. He likewise condemned the new tariff and urged the election of Bulkley and White.

Blame for business depression was largely due to Democratic opposition to the tariff which delayed passage of the new bill for a year, Harding charged at Fostoria. He asserted Democratic leaders worked "hand and glove" with international interests to delay the tariff bill.

MOUSER WINS VOTES ON BASIS OF RECORD

Service of Congressman Gets Approval in District, Survey Shows.

Iowa, and on Monday night at Kenton with Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Colonel Ralph D. Cole.

Congressman Mouser, although suffering from laryngitis, has fulfilled every speaking engagement and is certain he will carry through the final phases of the campaign.

His fight for reelection has been a clean one, free from any mud-slinging, and has been put up to the electors on the grounds that two years of efficient personal service at Washington should be rewarded with two more years of opportunity to continue serving the Eighth district.

On Two Committees

His first term was distinguished by appointment to two important committees in the house of representatives, pensions and buildings and grounds. Congressman Mouser's connection with the latter body has brought specific results in the form of a $140,000 appropriation for a new postoffice building site in Bucyrus, new quarters for the Ridgeway postoffice, survey for a federal building in Upper Sandusky, introduction of a bill for a federal building at Mt. Gilead, and active steps toward securing new postoffices for Findlay, Galion and Crestline in the near future. In addition Mouser has been instrumental in securing extensions of rural mail routes so that hundreds of country residents now have their mail delivered to their front doors.

In his service on the pensions committee, Representative Mouser has gained national recognition for his whole-hearted work in behalf of the veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars and their dependents. A World war veteran himself, Mouser was active throughout the last legislative sessions promoting measures to aid former soldiers.

This sympathetic interest of Mouser in veterans' relief has resulted in unanimity of support for his candidacy among ex-service men in the Eighth district.

Other activities of Mouser during his first term in Congress found him strongly supporting the tariff with its protective features for industry and workingmen. He has been especially prominent in work for an increase in duty on onions, which has reacted greatly to the benefit of Hardin county farmers, many of whom specialize in growing onions.

At the start of the campaign, both Congressman Mouser and his Democratic opponent, Carl Smith of Kenton, declared themselves in favor of the eighteenth amendment. Since that time one newspaper in the district has made editorial comment to the effect that there has been a wavering in Smith's stand.

Sinking Fund Takes Over Securities for Improvements.

Sale of $20,198.91 in bonds for city improvements was authorized by city council last night. These bonds will be purchased by the sinking fund trustees and will be the first city owned bonds in 10 years.

The bonds are for various small amounts for property owners' part of the cost of numerous improvements.

The 12 issues represented in the $20,198.91 include South Prospect street resurfacing; Evans road sewer; Boone avenue sewer; Edgewood drive sidewalk; Prospect street sidewalk, east side; Clover avenue sidewalk; Forest Lawn boulevard sidewalk; Forest Lawn boulevard sewer; Thew avenue sidewalk; South Prospect street sidewalk, west side; Kensington avenue sidewalk; Summit street sidewalk.

AN ENCOURAGING word on business improvement comes from Mr. Farrell, president of the big steel company. PRESIDENT HOOVER, Secretary Mellon and the financial "best minds," that know something about finance, might consider seriously the possibility of doing something for silver.

Howard E. Perry, an experienced mining man, says:

"If a merchant in the orient wants to buy goods in New York or London he must cash in 50 ounces of silver for one ounce of gold, to finance his purchase."

These figures will amuse some Americans whose dull minds refuse to understand the necessity of letting Europe and Asia run the United States navy.

In obedience to the London treaty, our navy is about to junk three battleships of the dreadnaught type, costing at least $50,000,000 each, two armored cruisers, about 140,000 tons of destroyers, and more than 30,000 tons of submarines. And if war broke out we should instantly begin rebuilding the submarines at highest possible prices.

SUGGESTS VOTE

Raskob Would Have National Referendum on Dry Question.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Just a week before election, the chairman of the Democratic National committee last night suggested a national referendum on prohibition be made one of his party's objectives if it obtains power.

John J. Raskob advanced the proposal as one of six points in the course of a campaign address carried by radio all over the country.

Taking first place in his program was the five-day week for workingmen.

"Is there any dry so stubborn," asked Raskob, "that he would insist on the country being dry if the people by referendum abolished the eighteenth amendment? Or is there any wet so bigoted that he would refuse to abide by the decision if a referendum showed the country to be dry?"

One of the most elevating exhibitions is to find that one is not afraid when the time ... afraid.

THEW, HULING FILE BANKRUPTCY PAPERS

Local Real Estate Men Take Action After Court Gives Judgments.

Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed today in Toledo federal court by John W. Thew and J. P. Huling, Marion real estate dealers, following judgments taken against them in common pleas court two months ago.

Thew lists $190,764.41 in liabilities and Huling lists $176,724. Their assets were given as $240,250 and $178,165, respectively. The figures were based on their valuations of real estate owned by them.

While the two men are not partners, they have been associated in business. Thew has been prominent in real estate circles here for years.

Judgments totaling $32,928.43 were taken against Thew in common pleas court and one of $1,272 was taken against Huling, while several others were taken against the two jointly.

Properties listed among Thew's assets include the Thew block on North Main street as well as four business rooms on West Center street east of the Montgomery Ward & Co. building in addition to 20 other residential and business properties. Huling's assets list 38 properties, all residential, with most of them on Forest and Henry streets.

The petitions were filed this morning with Judge George P. Hahn of the Toledo federal court through Attorney Hoke Donithen of the law firm of Donithen & Donithen.

AUTO CRASH HURTS RAILROAD EMPLOYE

Man Pinned Under Car After Skidding into Ditch When Lights Go Out.

Special To The Star

CALEDONIA, Oct. 28—Royal Stone, operator at the signal tower at Martel, sustained several cuts on his face, head and arms and was badly bruised when the car he was driving went into the ditch near the Iler home Harding highway East Monday. He was returning home from work when the lights on his car went out. He turned out for an approaching machine and got too close to the edge of the road. In trying to get the car back into the road it skidded into the ditch. Stone was pinned under the car until rescued by Willard Waterhouse.

Kenneth Sickel was unconscious nearly two hours and sustained a bruised back and a badly bruised left eye, and Lewis Sickel sustained a gash above his right eye and body bruises when the truck in which they were riding was sideswiped and crowded into the ditch near West Salem. They were enroute to Cleveland.

JEWELRY SAFE IS LOOTED BY BANDITS

Pair Gain Entrance by Ruse; Force Combination from Manager.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Two self-assured robbers posing as telegraph messengers, gained entrance to a Broadway jewelry store near Times Square two hours before it opened for business today, waited until the clerical force arrived, then made the manager open the safe and escaped with jewelry valued at $200,000.

They cowed a negro watchman with pistols before anyone else came, then as the clerks arrived, lined them up against the wall beside the watchman. Half an hour later the manager came and confessed that he knew the combination of the safe.

But the excitement drove the combination from his mind and his hands trembled so that he could not open the vault. One of the robbers, pressing a gun against the manager's side, forced him to telephone M. Rosenthal, proprietor of the store, who furnished the combination without asking questions.

The store is that of M. Rosenthal & Sons.

A. E. Clemens Charged with Embezzlement from Butler Store Here.

Charged with misappropriating $250 from the H. H. Butler Stores, Inc., store here, A. E. Clemens of Cleveland, wanted for more than a year by police, is awaiting action of the grand jury today.

Charged with embezzlement, he waived examination in municipal court this morning and was bound to the grand jury on $500 bond.

Clemens was arrested last night by police as he emerged from a local theater. He had been in Marion on previous occasions, but had evaded arrest until last night.

The affidavit charging embezzlement was filed against Clemens by Herman Harris, representing the company.

MARION'S SCHOOL DEBT TOTAL LOW

Stands 50th in List of 72 Ohio Cities in Bonded Indebtedness.

Marion city schools is $903,000 of which $683,000 has been expended for permanent improvements, new buildings, sites and equipment. A $220,000 item was incurred for operating expenses between 1916 and 1923 when the tax income was not sufficient for the operation of schools. The policy of throwing the burden on the future was adopted and bonds were sold to pay off operating deficits occurring every year during the period.

"This procedure is no longer permitted in Ohio and even if it were legal it would be unwise. We are still paying for the operation of the schools between 1916 and 1923 as a result of this issuance of bonds."

Debt Costs $50,000 a Year

Retirement of bonds costs the Marion school board a total of about $50,000 in principal and interest every year, or 21 per cent of the income for current expenses, capital outlay and debt service. The bonded indebtedness will not be completely paid until 1949.

The three mill school levy which is up for the voters' approval next Tuesday will, if renewed, provide funds with which the board of education will be able to continue its policy and to maintain the present standards of the schools, although it will not provide an opportunity for broadening of the school program and for many extended improvements which are needed not only for the plant but in the way of personnel and equipment, it is pointed out.

The levy for the last seven years has enabled schools to meet each year that year's current expenses, and such a policy will be continued by the board if the levy is renewed, school officials declare.

If it were not for the three-mill levy, the schools could not hope to pay their current expenses which amount to 77 cents of every tax dollar after 21 cents for bonds and interest and two cents for capital outlay are deducted. The levy enables the schools to meet their current expenses every year while the bonded indebtedness is gradually being reduced, according to Bowman.

With the levy in operation, the board has paid off $288,000 of the bonded indebtedness in the last five years and yet had sufficient funds to operate the full school program. Without the levy, the bonded indebtedness would have been paid as required but the funds remaining would have been insufficient to operate the schools for longer than five or six months each year.

Floating indebtedness, in other words, is estimated as the result of the levy, while the old indebtedness is being removed gradually.

Reelect Gilbert Bettman.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman will receive an overwhelming vote of confidence at the polls November 4. His services to Ohio during the twenty-one months he has occupied office mark him as one of the state's most conscientious and brilliant officials Like Governor Cooper, Mr. Bettman holds one rule essential to success in public office—hard, conscientious work.

As head of the state's most important law office, Mr. Bettman has established a new record of accomplishment. Unlike some of his predecessors, he performs the functions of his office in person. In his appearance before the United States supreme court he has distinguished himself by his brilliance and excellent preparation.

Mr. Bettman enjoys a wide personal acquaintance among the people whom he serves, which is an important factor in his success.

Among the outstanding court victories won by Ohio's attorney general, and one which endears him to the area bordering on Lake Erie, was that in the case of the Chicago water steal. Largely by reason of his own intelligent persuasion, Mr. Bettman convinced the court that the lowering of Lake Erie should be stopped.

Mr. Bettman also gained a decision in the supreme court to relieve the state from paying damages to private corporations in connection with the abandonment of canals for highway purposes. This decision saved hundreds of thousands of dollars for the state

The East Ohio excise tax case, also won by Mr. Bettman, deserves special mention. This case, which he won in the United States district court, resulted in public utilities having to pay excise taxes in connection with the sale of West Virginia and Pennsylvania gas in Ohio to the extent of approximately $1,000,000 a year.

In the state office building case Mr. Bettman defeated an injunction which sought to stop the city of Columbus from deeding property to the state for a building site, thereby saving the state a large sum His courageous and efficient handling of the Cleveland election fraud cases distinguished him, as did also his instruction to county treasurers to accept current tax payments, instead of holding to the old, usurious system of demanding payment of all past delinquencies or none.

Mr. Bettman, successful in private practice and a public servant by choice, has served capably for one term. He is asking for another. The voters of Ohio can show their appreciation by giving it to him.

History Is Made Monday.

History was made in London, Monday, when the American, British and Japanese ratifications of the London naval limitation treaty were placed in the archives of the British foreign office there The occasion was a momentuous one, marking as it did an event unique in all history the consummation of an agreement by and between the leading three naval powers of the world to limit the construction of all classes of ships of war not already limited by the treaty reached at the Washington conference to which the same powers and others were signatory.

Naturally the active parties to an event so notable would be dignataries of the contracting powers, and the event of Monday was not in this respect an exception to the rule Ambassador Dawes personally deposited the ratification of the United States, Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson represented Great Britain and Ambassador Matsudaira, Japan The French and Italian ambassadors to the Court of St James also witnessed the ceremony, France and Italy having signed the agreement, but with reservations regarding the clause limiting naval strength on the seas Shortly following the ceremony, short addresses of mutual felicitation were made over the air by President Hoover, Premier MacDonald and Premier Hamaguchi from Washington, London and Tokyo.

The London treaty may not work to lessen the danger of war, although it may lead to that most desirable end, but, like the Kellogg Briand treaty, it is a step in the right direction. It shows the will of the "Big Three" of the world's naval powers to get together in a plan to do away with naval competition, and if it has no other accomplishment, it will lessen what otherwise would be a growing burden upon the citizenships of the three nations.

Question has been raised regarding the six-year limit on the operation of the treaty. To our way of thinking that is one of its best features. Were it to continue in effect twice as long or even longer, it is hardly probable that there would be serious attempt at further limitation during the stipulated life of the treaty, but six years hence not only the United States, Great Britain and Japan, but also all the other nations of the earth may be in the mood to make reductions in naval strength of which there is not even thought at present. As President Hoover put it in his radio address which went out to all the civilized lands of the world.

"If the limitations now established can be maintained we may look forward with assurance to the fact that future conferences will find it easier to bring about further steps in reduction. It is the fervent prayer of right-thinking men and women of this generation that the international confidence which has been so patiently and single-mindedly achieved may endure so that the agreements which have been reached may live and be extended. Never again must a race in naval armaments be allowed to develop."

Of course there was and is criticism of the treaty, criticism along the line herein recited and along other lines. It was inevitable that there would be. Had the treaty not been made the subject of criticism, there would be not the slightest occasion for it, for the absence of criticism of this or any other agreement reached as the result of human endeavor would prove that the millennium had arrived and that peace on earth had been established.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

To permit more flexibility in the distribution of inheritance and income taxes—if any when a state income tax is adopted—a constitutional amendment will be submitted to the voters at the coming election

This is the amendment to Section 9 of Article 12.

"Not less than fifty per centum of the income and inheritance taxes that may be collected by the state shall be returned to the COUNTY, SCHOOL DISTRICT, city, village or township in which said income or inheritance taxes originate OR TO ANY OF THE SAME AS MAY BE PROVIDED BY LAW."

Capitals indicate the new matter that has been inserted in the present constitutional provision.

The object sought by this amendment is regarded as primarily preparation for the distribution of an income tax should that system of taxation be adopted by the legislature which will revise the tax code under the amendment adopted last year which abolished the uniform rule.

The sub-committee of the governor's tax committee which has been studying the allocation of centrally collected taxes, has expressed the opinion that such taxes should be turned back to the school district for the reason that the school function is more universal and has a more direct interest to the state than any other performed locally.

This plan, it is argued, would relieve the county from providing for school levies and would allow the county and city to rely on tax revenues collected locally.

It is pointed out that this method would not result in an increase of city and county taxes as the money formerly devoted to school purposes would be available for local use.

Passage of the amendment, however, would not guarantee that these revenues would be returned for the exclusive use of the school district or any other political subdivision.

Fifty per cent. of the inheritance tax now collected is returned to the municipal corporation or township in which it originates

It would require action of the legislature to change that.

The effect of the amendment, if adopted, would be to give the legislature the authority to return inheritance and income taxes—if any—to any one of the political subdivisions or to all of them equally, as it saw fit.—Columbus Citizen

End of a Nile Trip.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

It is the habit of writers of travel articles to say grandly that Karnak is beyond description and then go on for several pages describing it. I admit freely my inability to describe the wonders which meet the eye—it is too colossal But I can tell you something of the history of the ruins. Then you can go and look for yourselves and you will thank me for not having tried to paint a picture of the place for you

Karnak became holy ground about 3,000 B. C. Building, rebuilding and still more building was carried on for 2,000 years or more, with the result that there is a mass of shrines or temples the like of which the world has never seen, and probably never will again One thousand acres covered with shrines and temples!

The Temple of Amon, approached through a boulevard of ram-headed Sphinxes put there by Rameses II, is by far the largest and most important After you pass through the first pylon there is another double row of pillars, on the right side of which is a temple built by Rameses III, and on the left still another built by Seti I

After passing the second pylon you will see the most prideful building ever built by man in honor of his god Built by pagans a thousand years before Christ, there is every indication that it will outlast any so-called Christian church edifice now existing

Let's go over to the west bank of the Nile, to the tomb of Rameses II, acknowledged by experts to be the finest work of the reign of this monarch. There is an interesting legend-true about this It is related that before this tomb was built a huge statue of the king, weighing more than a thousand tons, was erected on this same spot In some way this statue was overthrown But the mystery is how because it did not show signs of violence anywhere

Amenhotep III is honored by the erection of the Colossi those statues which stand grandly alone in the plain The legend of this is that originally there was a temple there and that the Colossi stood in front of it, but the temple is gone, vanished completely

The attention of the world has been called recently to "The Valley of the Tomb of the Kings" This, however, is too much of a subject to go into here.

Be Cool in Rendering Aid.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Quite frequently we are forced to take care of some one who has met with an accident and is bleeding No one of us enjoys this experience and if the choice of going for the doctor or staying with the bleeder is given, I know what most of us would rather do.

The injured person is usually just as timid and frightened as you are at the sight of blood He is bleeding and the doctor has been called Everybody is distressed and worried. What shall we do until the medico comes.

We are frightened for fear the patient will bleed to death before the doctor arrives. The friends get excited and almost always the patient gets excited. The more you get excited, the more he does.

How well I recall a scene in medical college many years ago The professor was asking his students as to the proper first procedure in a case of bleeding. Many excellent and correct outlines of the procedure as recited in the text books were given by the anxious-to-please students.

"No, no," stormed the professor, and to the amazement of all stated, "The proper care is first to keep cool. After that," he said, "stop the bleeding"

If we would always remember this and act upon it, there would be less excitement whenever such emergencies arise. A life may be saved in consequence.

Various methods of stopping the blood artificially have been described by the surgeons. Which one to use depends on the type and site of the bleeding.

As a rule, bleeding will stop in a few minutes anyhow, if the patient is kept quiet. The firm pressure of a dressing may do the trick. Such a dressing soaked in very hot water will often stop the bleeding

If the bleeding continues and you are doubtful as to the vessel that is responsible, something else must be done. Then a "tourniquet" must be applied.

A tourniquet is simply a constricting band placed around the injured limb between the wound and the heart. This pressure shuts off the flow of blood to this part of the body. It consists of a pad, which serves as the pressure part, and a band. The pad may be made of a small stone, a piece of wood, or other hard object, wrapped in some material to make it less rough

If sufficient pressure can not be exerted by hand, it may easily be aided by placing a stick under the binder and twisting But you must be careful not to exert sufficient pressure to cause discoloration or marked pain. Always have a physician inspect your work and finish the job.

Remember you are only treating the injured person until the doctor arrives. If no one has come within the hour, and the tourniquet is on, release it. Allow the tourniquet to remain loose but in place. If the bleeding appears again it may be tightened.

If the tourniquet is left on a wound too long death of the nearby tissues will take place, due to cutting off the blood supply. This is a serious matter and its danger should always be borne in mind.

And don't forget to keep cool!

The Atlantic Cable.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In these days of scientific marvels, when people speak across the Atlantic ocean at a cost of twenty-five dollars a minute, the mighty achievement of the laying of the Atlantic cable is almost forgotten. Today there are numerous cables lying on the ocean floors, connecting continent with continent. By 1921, 539 ocean cables had been laid, totaling in length some 24,960 miles. But when the first Atlantic cable was laid it was regarded as a colossal feat of scientific skill. Justin McCarthy, the Irish historian said: "The history of human invention has not a more inspiring example of patience during down discouragement and perseverance triumphing over defeat."

The story has often been told that at a banquet on one occasion, Cyrus W. Field said regarding the laying of the Atlantic cable: "I am a man of few words. Maury furnished the brains, England gave me money, and I did the work." Perhaps this story is not strictly correct, but it probably represents what actually occurred.

Matthew Fontaine Maury has received little credit in written history for his contribution of "the brains." Between 1849 and 1853, many soundings were made, under Maury's direction, of the North Atlantic ocean. The depth of the ocean was measured literally in thousands of places by United States naval officers and others. In 1852 Maury drew a chart representing the bottom of the Atlantic ocean between America and Europe

Maury called the broad elevation beneath the waves, which he had charted, the "Telegraphic Plateau" because it was an admirable floor for an Atlantic cable He also located the path for the cable, and described the proper construction of the wires for such a cable. In speaking of the "Telegraphic Plateau," in response to inquiries by Cyrus W. Field's company, Maury said "It is neither too deep, nor too shallow, yet it is so deep that the wires, being once landed, will remain forever beyond the reach of vessels' anchors, icebergs and drift of any kind, and so shallow that the wires may be readily lodged upon the bottom" For years, according to Wayland in "The Pathfinder of the Seas," an active correspondence was carried on between Field and Maury; and Field constantly visited Maury, in search of scientific counsel and advice. Maury gave Field valuable scientific information regarding the necessary size and strength of the cable, means for protecting it against wear and tear, and mechanisms for coiling it on the ocean floor. Maury, the scientist, supplied the brains; but Field, the capitalist and executor of the operation received the gold medal voted by the American congress

A cable had been laid from England to France in 1846, but the attempt to lay a cable across the Gulf of Mexico in 1854 had failed. Field conceived the idea of laying a cable across the Atlantic ocean. The Atlantic Telegraph company, which he organized, was supported almost entirely by English capital. Much assistance was derived, not only from Maury, but also from the Canadian inventor and electrician, Frederick N. Gisborne, who laid the first deep-sea cable in American waters, between Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

The first attempt was made by Field in 1857, but the cable parted 335 miles from the Irish coast and the project for the time was abandoned. The next year a first attempt failed, but the second was successful for only a few weeks, when a breakage occurred. Immense financial loss was suffered by the company, and Field was almost bankrupted. The effort was resumed in 1865, but this time the cable broke 1,200 miles from Ireland and could not be recovered. Finally, as a reward of Field's resolution and persistence, a cable was successfully laid in 1866. To this monumental task Field had devoted twelve years of his life, sometimes having as many as 1,200 men at work. Success, fully deserved, finally crowned his efforts.—Copyright, 1930, International Features Service, Inc

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 28—The brief flicker of these anxious days not only puzzles over-r celebrities, but even astonishes the p glancing at their clay feet. This trans does not apply solely to fortunates of s screen and radio but to all forms of "p contest" endeavor.

Gertrude Ederle, swimming the E channel and looming large in the headline days, passes along New York streets a unnoticed to take her train to Rye, where is a swimming instructor. The evanishme air heroes is startling Not even Lindb ties traffic in a knot any more.

The Guy Empeys, the Eddie Rickenba the Michael Arlens and others as deser illustrious are befogged by a volcano difference. The warm hand becomes a shoulder. The celebrity is a "ten day wo and there he goes!' Two ladies last night unable to recall the exact exploits of Elder.

A celebrity today—with exceptions of c —wears out his welcome by careless pr cuosity. If he is the hero of some ordinary achievement he is immediate sieged by those who want to traffic in sudden popularity, to capitalize an often won halo.

He is asked to prattle over the radio, nate the news reels, indorse cigarets, sh soap and such He must pose for ne loids and rotogravures He is invited to guest of honor at "celebrity nights" at clubs And is usually offered "a week a Palace"

If he adopts the theory he must make while the sun shines, his finish is usually q The public yowl becomes a yawn. Nothin so mentally cloying as an overdose of r rities. Humanity being what it is, admira curdles into a fine derision over night.

The explanation requires no analytical bity. Celebrities fail to master the ob lesson of attracting attention by the i process of shunning it—so conspicuously fective with J. M Barrie, Julia Arthur Maud Adams. Greta Garbo's big box o draw is her studied isolation.

Ohio Almost Had a Third Speak

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Ohio has but twice held the speakersh the national house of representatives, her resentatives being General J. Warren K of Springfield, and Nicholas Longworth, th cumbent. Surprise is often expressed tha state which has been so successful in sec for her sons high government positions sh have been so infrequently represented in office.

But there was an occasion when if an congressman had pushed his claim, and a fight for the speakership, such an h would have come to the state. That cong man was Samuel F. Vinton and the occ was the organization of the congress w met December, 1849.

Vinton had entered congress for the time in 1843 and during the Mexican war the high position of chairman on ways means. This easily put him in the first for elevation to speakership, and his fr were active in urging his election. But was growing old and his health was preca probably with better judgment than his fr he declined to make the contest. The outstanding candidate for the speakersh Robert C. Winthrop, and before congres Vinton wrote Winthrop that he would n a candidate, but would support the Wi movement.

But Winthrop was not a strong can and Vinton's refusal to run threw congre to a chaotic condition, so much so th was not until the day before Christma the deadlock was broken. In the mee the house showed its feelings toward by adopting a resolution providing that t speaker was chosen, Mr. Vinton and Linn should preside on alternating days. W was finally defeated by two votes by Cobb.

Hallowe'en Note Carried Out In Dance Club Decorations

HALLOWE'EN colors and emblems arranged a colorful setting for the opening dance of the winter season of the Mutt and Jeff Dance club last night at Schwinger's. The hall was cleverly decorated with the season's colors, where 60 couples danced to a program played by Bob Dykeman's orchestra from Lima, and the same decorations were arranged for supper. During the supper hour the guests were entertained with dancing and singing by a group of performers from Columbus.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Bindley, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Dan LaMarche, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haberman, Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Howser, committee for the year, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaMarche, Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Maish, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe D. Canto Singers Appear in First Program of Season

MEMBERS of the Canto club chorus were heard for the first time this season when they were presented in a guest program last night by the Marion Lecture-Recital club at Trinity Baptist church. Other guest entertainers included Miss Elsie Herkenhoss and Miss Loretta Zettler of Columbus. Club members appearing on the program were Mrs. R. O. Bresler, Mrs. David Walter Evans, Mrs. James C. Woods and Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence.

Members of the Canto club chorus opened the program with three numbers including "Ye Watchers and Ye Hol. Ones," a seventeenth century carol, Metcalf's "Absent," and "Invictus" by Bruno Huhn. These numbers, as were those of the closing group, displayed the splendid harmonizing qualities and range of the men's voices which has played a major role in making the chorus a favorite in music circles in the city and throughout the state.

An organ group played by Mrs. R. O. Bresler whose numbers ranged from the impressive "Solemn Prelude" from T. Tertius Noble's "Gloria Domini," to the brilliant "Toccata," by Rodgers, were splendidly interpreted. Her other number was "Meditation," by Lang.

Mrs. David Walter Evans, who possesses a charming soprano voice, sang H. Cloughleighter's song cycle "Love-Sorrow." A delightful background was given the number in the accompaniments played by Miss Herkenhoss, violinist, Miss Zettler, cellist, and Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, pianist.

A pleasing group of the program was the presentation of two numbers arranged for the piano and organ, played by Mrs. James C. Woods at the piano and Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence. They played "Rhapsody," by Clifford Demarest, and Massenet's beautiful number, "Meditation," from "Thais."

The men's chorus closed the program with three numbers, "Laudaumus," by Daniel Protheroe, "The Miller's Wooing," by Eaton Fanning and "Prayer of Thanksgiving," a Netherland folk song.

The club chorus is directed by Ernst C. Carl, assisted by T. R. Evans. Miss Melvina Summers is accompanist. The last number of the closing group was directed by Mr. Evans. The audience was dismissed by Rev. L. A. Wood, pastor of the church.

Members of the club are William Ackerman, H. L. Albrecht, G. J. Bechtle, R. H. Robinson, L. D. Zachman, S. W. Zachman, H. Mitchell, H. Orr, G. F. Lusch, P. M. Byers, E. Four, G. B. Layman, J. F. Leffler, H. J. Mautz, Forrest Hill, D. C. Rueger, R. L. Bowers, I. H. Taylor, J. A. Walsh, E. L. Howe, L. E. Foster, E. N. Sloan, H. Ebert, C. E. Bowers, G. J. Hess, J. H. Hoffman, P. L. Kennedy, William R. Roberts, L. F. Schneider, A. T. Allen, W. E. Orcutt and R. A. Martin.

It was announced today by Mrs. Karl W. Schell, president of the Lecture-Recital club, that members were invited to be guests at the lecture to be given by Miss Mary Elizabeth Cook, sculptor, of New York City and Columbus, Nov. 6 at Hotel Harding. Miss Cook will appear as guest speaker at the meeting of the Art club on that date.

BINDLEY CO. PARTY

The annual Hallowe'en party was held Saturday night at Schwinger's hall for employes and officers of the Bindley Grocery Co. After being escorted through a "chamber of horrors," the guests were entertained with contests, cards and dancing. Music was furnished by the Hotel Harding orchestra. Refreshments were served by a committee in charge.

Minnetonka Council Plans for Initiation

Plans for initiation Nov. 10 were made by Minnetonka Council No. 24, Degree of Pocahontas, at a meeting last night in Junior Order hall. Two applications were received for membership.

Following the meeting a benefit euchre party was enjoyed. Awards went to Mrs. Bessie Everly and George Bishop for high scores and to Mrs. Grace Arthur and Earl Carwile for second highest scores. Twelve tables were filled. Lunch was served by a committee.

Ohio Mother Solves Problem

"MY little daughter, Edna Mae, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. John E. Couch, 7029 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland. "She had whooping cough and later came down with measles.

"She was having a hard time until our doctor recommended California Fig Syrup and I got her some. Fig Syrup helped her remarkably. She is now perfectly strong; has a good appetite and digestion; is quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headachy, weak, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and elixir of senna.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

Lester Meets Another Rose

CHAPTER 21

LESTER BROON was more amused than irritated when she failed to keep the appointment he had made for her to meet and be married at the municipal building in New York. So she was being stubborn? Well, he'd like nothing better than to go out to Southcliff and bring her in himself. A touch of the whip . . .

He signalled to a taxi crawling towards him on the opposite side of the street. As he crossed to it, a girl on the opposite pavement laid a hand on the door near the . . .

"I'm so sorry, I didn't know it was you he was stopping for" giggled the girl. She was very blonde and blue-eyed. Lester stood bareheaded and with easy laughter in his eyes.

"I'm in no hurry, honestly—go ahead and take it." So long as I catch the 12 o'clock from Penn. station I'm all right."

"But it's a quarter to 12 now!" the girl cried "You can't possibly make it."

"Oh, well then I'll catch the next" said Lester. He was fully aware of the excitement and admiration in the girl's eyes as she looked up at him "There's always plenty of trains to Southcliff."

"Oh!" fluttered the girl. "Oh, how funny. I mean, it's really a coincidence but I'm going to Southcliff too Not by the 12 o'clock, of course, but by the—the next."

Lester had dealt with this kind of coincidence before.

"Then this is certainly our taxi," he said still smiling. They got in.

"We'll have a pretty long wait for our train" he said "What about stopping in at Sherry's on the way?"

"I'd simply adore to," she said.

Lester settled back and took a good look at the girl who by now, no doubt, considered herself madly in love with him. Pretty, he thought, but much too much so. "You don't come a step further than Sherry's, sister," resolved Lester . . . And now she was asking him to tell her what he was thinking of.

"You," retorted Lester mechanically.

"Then you're wishing we hadn't met and you didn't have to bother with me."

"I was thinking how perfectly wonderful it is of you to bother with me," he contributed. "Say, it'd be swell if you'd tell me your name"

"I don't know yours," she countered.

Lester gave it.

"Lester Broon," she repeated. "I've seen your name somewhere—oh yes, dancing at the Ritz with Cyria Cullen. Isn't she lovely? I saw her in 'Permanent Waves' the other day"

"She's a little like you" said Lester, bending slightly towards her "In fact I'd almost think you were her kid sister—well, here's Sherry's"

He helped her out and was presently steering her to a secluded table There was no one—he looked around the place—no one he knew No one he could dump her on to.

"You haven't told me your name yet you know" he said after he had ordered her a sundae and black coffee for himself

"Oh, didn't I" she asked in elaborate surprise "It's Conaldine. Rose Conaldine"

Lester's coffee was at that moment placed before him and he drank it at a gulp . . . Although he had addressed his letter to "Hallie Ellesmore" at Southcliff, he had given "Rose Conaldine" as his bride's name at the registrar's office, intending to make quite sure of the validity of his marriage.

His first thought was that by some trick of the brain he was again hearing Hallie's voice utter Hallie's "real name"

But his confusion passed. Like many men who possess beauty of body without beauty of mind and who therefore attract only the most mindless of women, he was ready to believe that they would go to any lengths to gain his attention

"Nice name," he said, eyeing her with deliberate insolence "And only two of you in all New York so far as I know."

"Two of us"" she stammered "You know another girl of my name" Conaldine"?

Lester grinned

"I'm afraid you don't like your sundae," he said "Let me order you something else, Miss Rose Conaldine the Second."

"Why, you sound—" she faltered —"you sound as though you didn't believe it is my name!"

"Oh, I don't say that!" Lester leaned back, lighting a cigaret.

She rose angrily.

"Bye-bye," he murmured. "Shall I give your love to Southcliff?"

Arriving in Southcliff Lester went at once to Mrs. Bartholomew's.

"Miss Ellesmore at home?" he asked, as he opened the door.

"There's no one of that name lives here."

"Oh, I see!" Lester chuckled "Then ask Miss Conaldine to see me."

Miss Conaldine's staying up at the Broon house."

Lester swore freely The woman stood quietly till he had finished, her eyes averted. Then without moving or looking at him, she retorted with a stream of profanity such as he had never heard equalled by any woman, young or old. And, as he departed, she took his $5 bill to the kitchen and dropped it into the stove

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a homemade medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TUESDAY, and still cold, but not much wind. When I was shaking down the bass burner my father came out and asted me how the grass in the pasture was, and when I told him it was still pretty good he shivered and when back to bed to get warm, and left me out in the cold. I guess when there isn't any more grass he will tell me to leave the cows in the pasture. After breakfast when me and Jubilee and the bunch were going to the pasture we went around past the new house which had its roof blowed crooked, and the carpenters had tooken the crooked roof off and had almost got a new one on. Carpenters can certainly work fast, and they can run fast for a little ways. We were in the garage painting the wall with some paint that was in there, and one of them almost caught us when he hollered at us and we lit out. Grown-ups don't want boys to do anything. The girls were not with us. They come with us mostly in the summertime, so as to keep us from going swimming. Nobody has to keep us from swimming in the winter, and it is almost witer.

We went down to the creek when we got to the pasture, and we could see the crawfish and the minnies, and we wouldn't of got wet at all, only when we got up to the wide part a muskrat saw us coming before we saw it and it was half way across to the other bank before we saw it, and then the dogs all went in after it, but it could certainly swim fast. We were all on the bank jumping up and down and hollering for the dogs to get it, and someone must have pushed the Lost Bag of Tripe, for he went in all over all at once, and the dogs looked back to see what made the splash, and we all looked at the Lost Bag of Tripe, and when we looked around again the muskrat was gone, and we never did find out where it went to.

The Lost Bag of [illegible] everything better hurry home or he might catch peonia or something, so we ran all the way home to keep him warm, but instead of thanking us for it his mother called us a lot of little savidges and said we would all come to some bad end. I would rather come to a bad end than to start from a bad end, like the Lost Bag of Tripe, but I didn't tell her so. She brang him to school and told our teacher on us, and our teacher told her that it was too bad, but she said she hadn't anything to do with what was done out of the schoolyard out of school hours. She told her that maybe we saved his life by not letting him get chilled, but his mother said she would as soon he would freeze to death as to be run to death, and she talked so long that the teacher said she would have to excuse her because the bell had rang, so she went home mad. The Lost Bag of Tripe stayed in at recess. It was a good thing.

When your good friend, whom you know so well, achieves a great success, he doesn't have to be modest with you.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELA GARRISON

Madge Is Amazed at the Fortune the Artist Has Placed in Trust For Lillian

I PROMPTLY obeyed Mrs Cosgrove's summons trying hard not to let her see the reluctance with which I faced my imminent interview with Robert Savarin. But she has shrewd eyes, this sister of the famous artist, and I felt her friendly reassuring hand upon my arm

"I know she said understandingly. "This is an ordeal for you, and I would spare you if I could. But Robert has set his heart upon telling you himself about those securities"

"Oh please I exclaimed shocked by her interpretation "Do not think I am reluctant to see Robert. It is only that I am embarrassed I think is the word, by the mission he has given me."

"Mission is just the right word to describe it" she told me "Think of it as that and it will make it easier for you, if I know you and I think I do

She stepped to an old fashioned corner cupboard, unlocked it and took out an oblong package wrapped in brown paper

"I've had these in my trunk since the lawyer brought them yesterday," she said "until just before you came Then I put them in here, and I have not had my eyes off them since I think Robert would have liked to keep them in his room, but he didn't want the nurse to know about them Of course, she knows there's some important business afoot, but she's discreet and tactful and not a bit inquisitive"

The nurse proved the truth of the encomium when Mrs Cosgrove tapped upon the door of her brother's room She opened it instantly and smiled brightly at us.

Robert Savarin Exacts a Promise

"All ready for visitors," she said cheerily. "If you don't mind I'm going to seize this chance to walk up and down the veranda a bit. It's such a glorious Winter morning."

She ushered us into the room and then went out, closing the door, and I turned to the bed where Robbert Savarin was propped up against his pillows his warm, colored dressing-gown reflected in the flush upon his cheeks, usually so drained of color. At the foot of the bed his portrait of Lillian, which was to be mine but which he meant to keep before his eyes as long as he had life to see it, seemed to look at me in reproach at the kindly conspiracy which was being completed against her

He turned his eyes from the portrait and stretched out a thin hand to me.

"It is so good of you to come," he said, and then his sister laid the brown paper parcel, untied, upon the bed.

"Here are the different papers all separated as I showed them to you yesterday," she said "You won't need me for a few minutes, will you? I have a cake in the oven."

"You blessed little prevaricator" Her brother smiled at her fondly "But run along. Come back though, in ten minutes at the longest."

"All right." She hurried out of the door, and Robert Savarin lifted the parcel and took from it two large manila envelopes His thin, almost transparent hands shook as he held them out to me

"For her:" he said, turning his eyes reverently to Lillian's pictured ones. Then he looked at me.

"Open them" he said "This one first." He indicated the smaller envelope.

I took the papers from the envelope, finding two bank books one with a savings account of three-thousand dollars, the other with a checking balance of a thousand and convertible bonds and securities totaling eleven thousand dollars They were all in my name Margaret Graham and Robert Savarin's voice said softly

"Those total the fifteen thousand which I want you to have for your divine charities," he said "But, I should like to feel that if ever any dire need arose in your own life—which God forbid"—you would remember that your old friend would be saddened immeasurably if you did not use it for yourself Won't you promise me that much?"

"If ever such a need arises, I will use it gladly," I said simply for I had not come this long way to thwart him upon an academic point.

"Thank you," he said fervently. "Now open the other envelope, which contains the things you are to keep in trust for Lillian and for Marion.

The documents which were in the other envelope were the same as in my own the savings account and the checking balance (on a different bank than the first) were also in my name and were for the same amounts as those in the first But the value of the securities listed in my name made me gasp.

"Oh' Robert" this is such a responsibility I said "This fortune! Couldn't your sister be made a co-trustee, or something"

A tender smile touched his lips.

"You know Lillian's fiery independence better than that," he said I do not know even though she told me" he checked himself abruptly then went on hastily, "don't you know that you are the only person in the world from whom she might conceivably some time receive this legacy" It is an unwelcome task, a hard responsibility I know, but won't you accept it—for Lillian"

PRESIDENTS BATTLE MANSFIELD FRIDAY

HARDING GRIDDERS TO MEET VETERAN CREW IN TYGERS' LINEUP

Murpheymen Not Taking Game Lightly Despite Comparative Records of Year.

WITH one practice session gone "by the boards" Marion now has just two days in which to prepare for the annual gridiron battle with Mansfield's Tygers. Coach Bohyer spent the yesterday afternoon session in pointing out the mistakes made in the Bucyrus game, which Harding lost 22 to 0. Inclement weather caused the gridders to confine their work to the inside. Tonight it is presumed that a stiff session is in line for the locals in an effort to have some of the numerous weaknesses of the Presidents, which were revealed in the Redmen game overcome. Unless a large amount of improvement is shown by the Harding team before Friday afternoon, Harding stands an excellent opportunity of absorbing the seventh straight beating of the season.

Coach Murphey is not wasting any practice sessions with his Tyger crew in the belief that Harding will be another push-over for his men. He has not forgotten the fray last year when a supposedly weak Harding eleven met his men on Fairground field and sent them home with a scoreless deadlock. It was the only tie game for the 1929 champs.

Tygers Are Veterans

Harding will be facing a seasoned team of veteran gridders in the Mansfield team. Luckie, McKinney and Brandon are probably the leading members of the cast but they will be ably supported by Matthews and several others.

Mansfield is looking to the encounter with Harding as just a temporary stop-over on the road to another championship. It may not even be a stop. The Tygers may only slow up and then get going faster than ever before the Harding fray is completed. It is quite possible that the Presidents will take another of the numerous one-sided beatings which they seem to have formed the habit of taking this season.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

AGLANCE at the scoring records of the individual N. C. O. league performers reveals the already known fact that not a Harding player's name graces the list. This can easily be understood when it is also noted that not a point has been scored against N. C. O. opposition this season by the local gridders.

Leading the list of scorers in the league is the individual who last Saturday gave Harding some pointers on how to reverse his field and also a few other intricacies of the art of scoring touchdowns—to wit, Mr. Talbott of Bucyrus. The name of the Redmen quarterback leads the scoring list of the N. C. O. with 46 points to his credit. It might be remarked that 20 of the 46 were scored in the Harding game when he scored three six pointers and kicked two points from placement.

Second in the list but quite a distance behind Talbott is Bob Rybolt of Ashland who has 33 points to his credit. Swanger of Shelby and Stout of Galion are deadlocked for third place with 32 points each.

• • •

AT last we have found someone that agrees with us. Or perhaps we should say someone that we can agree with. Oscar Ruhl of the Mansfield Journal is picking the Mansfield and Ashland teams to battle it out on Turkeyday for the championship of the N. C. O. circuit. Of course it is possible that such a prediction may go the way of a lot of others in the way of sport but right now it looks like these two are the class of the league. Ashland had a hard time getting in stride but now that the Starnmen have found their stride they will probably not deviate much from the course that leads to a championship. That is until they meet Mansfield.

Now here is where we are going to go Mr. Ruhl one better. When the Thanksgiving day battle is completed we predict that the team that will be proffering the most thanks for what has happened it during the football season will be the Mansfield Tygers. Ashland will give them a good game. They might even beat them. But then—Ohio State may win the Big Ten title again some of these years.

Lipton Announces Intention of Attempting To Win Yacht Cup.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 28—Sir Thomas Lipton, entraining today for Southampton to take the Leviathan for America, stated that he had determined to have another Shamrock ready in two years to race for the America's cup. It will be one, he said, that "will make the Americans sit up."

"Am I going to contest for the America's cup next year?" said Sir Thomas. "I don't think so, unless I have a boat like the Americans have."

"THE IRON MASK"

By The Associated Press

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 28—Tury Oman, Unviersity of Wisconsin fullback, who suffered a cracked jaw in football practice, will be available for the Badger lineup against Ohio Saturday, doctors said today, but if he goes in the game, he will do so as "the man with the iron mask." Doctors contrived a metal brace which has been strapped to Tury's jaw to prevent additional injury to the cracked bone

GALLANT FOX RETIRES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — Gallant Fox, William Woodward's three-year-old champion and the greatest money winner in the history of the American turf, has bidden farewell to the east, scene of most of his brilliant triumphs. The big son of Sir Galahad third, and Marguerite left yesterday by train in his private horse car for Paris, Ky. He has been retired to stud and from competition for the rest of his life.

TOUCHDOWN BY ARMY IN YALE BATTLE IS CLAIMED ILLEGAL

Eli Officials Say Pictures Reveal Cadet Halfback Was Pushed Across Line.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct. 28 Football students had the problem "when is a touchdown not a touchdown" before them today as well as the growing speculation that all is not as well as it might be in the football relations of Yale and Army.

Yale officials announced yesterday after a review of motion pictures of Saturday's Army-Yale game that Tom Kilday, Cadet halfback, had scored an illegal touchdown in putting Army in a position to gain a 7-7 tie.

They claim that the pictures, viewed in private by Head Coach Mal Stevens, line Coach Adam Walsh, Tad Jones, Dean Clarence Mendell and Harold F. Woodcock, general manager of the Yale athletic association, showed that Kilday was knocked over the goal line from behind by Stecker, a halfback mate after he had been stopped short of the goal in a charge from the Yale one-yard line.

At the same time, the Yale officials said that they expected to do nothing about the situation and would accept the official decision giving Army the touchdown.

Army Is Silent

While Army officially maintained silence, refusing quotations, supporters of the Cadets expressed wonder at the existence of motion pictures of the game and took little pains to hide the fact that there was feeling on the Army side concerning the sportsmanship of the Eli rooters.

Yale mentions that the pictures also show the play on which Albie Booth, quarterback ace, was smothered by Cadets and bruised so that he was forced to retire from the game on the first play in which he participated. The Yale version is that the pictures show Booth had been stopped after intercepting a long Army pass and that the referee had signalled the play at an end when Army players, picking up speed suddenly leaped into the mass on the ground, among that mass, Booth.

Army spokesmen comment bitterly on the scenes that followed. They insist Booth was downed hard but legally and the Cadet corps, cheering his gallantry, was booed by the Eli section. Later, when an Army man was injured, Yale cheered again and this time the Cadets think the Elis had something else in mind.

Will Not Change Site of Purple-Irish Battle

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 28—The Northwestern-Notre Dame football game will be played at Dyche stadium, Nov. 22, and not at Soldier field.

The faculty committee of the Western conference decided that relaxation of Big Ten rules to allow the transfer of the game from its original setting at Dyche stadium to Soldier field for the benefit of Chicago charitable organizations, might serve as a precedent to further inroads on the rules. Hence the request for permission for the Wildcats to meet the Ramblers at Soldier field was turned down.

Kent Bearcats To Try Again for Grid Title

By The Associated Press

KENT, O., Oct. 28 — The Kent Bearcats will make another sally on the National bantamweight football championship.

The Bearcats will play a second game with the Charlottesville, Va., Juniors, claimants of the 110-pound gridiron title, here the night of November 6. The Virginians recently defeated the Bearcats here and a year ago vanquished the Ohio lightweights at Charlottesville.

LOOKING TO FUTURE

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 28 — Coach Knute Rockne is doing a little dealing in futures. The Notre Dame football strategist yesterday gave his first and second elevens a day off, but busied himself with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth Irish elevens, the members of which probably will blossom out as regulars in a couple of years.

Hoosiers Meet Ramblers

MARTY BRILL • FRANK CARIDEO • LUCIEN ASHBY • ED. HUGHES • GEORGE ROSS.

Once again the new stadium at South Bend, Ind., is destined to be the scene of a thrilling football game Saturday as the Hoosiers of Indiana University under the tutleage of Pat Page clash with the "Fightin' Irish" of the South Bend institution. The outstanding members of the Irish lineup will probably be Larry Mullins, fullback; Marty Brill, halfback, and Frank Cariedo, quarterback.

Prominent members of the Indiana squad will be Lucien Ashby, halfback, George Ross, halfback and Ed. Hughes, fullback.

Although the Indiana team does not seem to be any match for the powerful Rockne outfit anything sometimes happens in football and it might happen this Saturday. Who knows?

Toledo U. Dismisses Three Gridders for Indifferent Playing.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 28—Charged with indifferent playing, Don Sharpe, quarterback and captain of the much-defeated Toledo University Rockets, and two other players were absent from the squad today.

D. V. Connelly, athletic director of the school, in announcing dismissal of the trio, said it was "for the good of the team." Jimmy Nicholson, head coach, charged them with "indifferent play."

Those dismissed with Sharpe were "Spot" Neubrecht, halfback, and Joe Bloom, end.

NEW IDEA

Father and Son To Act as Pros for Brookside Country Club.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28—Father and son will be joint professionals at Brookside Country club here next year.

Contracts ratified last night by Brookside directors gave the places to Denny Shute, nationally known golfer and now pro at Brookside, and his father, Herman P. Shute, pro at Arlington Country club.

The father-son pro contract is believed to be the first of its kind in America.

HANLEY PESSIMISTIC OVER GOPHER GAME

Wildcats To Present Strongest Lineup of Year Against Minnesota.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 28—Coach Dick Hanley will send Northwestern at the peak of its power against Minnesota Saturday, but he is even more pessimistic than when he had a flock of cripples over which to worry.

"My boys have had it too easy," he said yesterday. "Without Bruder, Russell and Kent they ran up points on Illinois and Ohio, and now, that Bruder and Russell are back, I'm afraid they will not take Minnesota seriously enough."

Hanley wasted no time in getting down to serious business for the battle at Minnesota Saturday—which will remove one more team from the Big Ten race. He had Russell at quarter, Bruder and Hanley at halves, and Rentner at fullback, in a long drill on new plays yesterday, leaving Lefty Leach and Al Moore, both regulars while Bruder and Russell were out, at the head of a big list of reserve backs. The regular set, which averages about 183 pounds, looked good and gave promise of supplying the running attack that has been missing.

Gophers May Surprise

Minnesota will have had two weeks of preparation for the game and undoubtedly will be immensely improved. Coach Fritz Crisler has been working hard on the offense that was just beginning to shape up when the Gophers defeated Indiana, 7 to 0, two weeks ago.

Purdue will get plenty of work on forward passes this week. Coach Noble Kizer was displeased with the Boilermaker passing against Wisconsin although it produced their touchdown.

Wisconsin may go to Ohio State without Tury Oman, capable reserve fullback. The Badger player yesterday was kicked in the face in a scrimmage and was taken to the hospital. The regulars were rested yesterday but were due for a full sized workout today. Ohio, another team having two weeks in which to prepare for this week's task, has been working hard and quietly and the battered Badgers may run into a big surprise.

Indiana took a thorough beating from Southern Methodist last Saturday, but when the squad landed in Bloomington yesterday, it was just in time to go through one of its longest sessions of the season.

Chicago came out of the Mississippi game in poor shape. Wien and Tiogo. Stagg's starting ends, were missing from practice yesterday and may be out of the lineup against Princeton Saturday.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, Yankee stars, are barnstorming in the east.

WESLEYAN REGULARS UNABLE TO REPORT FOR DAILY WORKOUT

Only Four First String Bishops Not on Injured List; Haney Shows Form.

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 28—Minor injuries will keep many of Ohio Wesleyan's first team players from practicing this week with the result that Bishop coaches will devote their time to the development of the second and third elevens. Only four of Ohio Wesleyan's usual starting lineup will be in condition for practice, all having been hurt either in practice scrimmages last week or in the game with Simpson Saturday. The coaches expect all the players to recover in time for the Homecoming game with Western Reserve here Saturday, however.

Expecting Western Reserve to rely heavily upon forward passing attack in its effort to break its losing streak at the expense of Ohio Wesleyan, the Bishops will spend considerable time this week on forward pass defense. Their own pass attack, which against Simpson for the first time this season Wesleyan's aerial attack to functioning will receive further attention also.

George Haney, Chillicothe, third string quarterback who surprised Bishop followers by his excellent play after injuries had forced Ervin Carlisle, Columbus, and Robert Given, Steubenville, first and second team quarterbacks out of the game, will receive considerable attention from coaches this week. Haney's passing served to start Wesleyan's aerial attack to functioning and it is believed that the coaches will groom him for considerable service in Ohio Wesleyan's remaining games.

X-rays taken of Carlisle's injury which was at first thought to be serious indicate that no bones are broken and that he may be ready to call signals against Western Reserve.
